INFORMAL AFFAIRS
CONTINUE POPULAR
The informal affairs at the Country club continue to be among the most popular diversions of society during the Lenten season. For the event on Saturday evening several small parties have already been planned. As usual a delicious, seasonable mean will be served, followed by informal dancing
until midnight.

MEMPHIS GIRL WELCOMED HOME FROM OVERSEAS

Miss Gettrede Egen was welcomed me on Wednesday murning after an absence of many menths, during which she was engaged in war relief work in France. She was a member of the large corps of workers with the national Catholic war council and though she very modestly disclaims any special credit, her friends know that she did excellent work. Since her arrival she has been showered with greetings from her friends at home and in telegrams from friends throughout the country, giving her a cordial welcome and expressing pleasure in the fact that she once again in the United States.

Col. A. H. Egan went to New York to welcome his daughter and accompanied her on her return.

Vanderburg-Wicke.

The Washington Heights M. E. church will be the scene of a beautiful wedding on Wednesday evening, when Miss Mamie Lee Vanderburg will become the bride of Mr. Walter Eugene Wicke, of Pensacola, Fig.

An artistic setting of spring flowers with a profusion of roses, releved by palms and ferns, will form the hackground for the wedding picture. Mrs. McFerrin will preside at the organ, rendering the bridai chorus from "Lohengrin" as the processional and Mendelssohu's wedding march as the recessional.

Miss Floy Sturdivant, a college friend of the bride, will play upon the violin Wagner's Evening Star and during the ceremony she will softly play "Traumerei." She will also play a violin obbligato for the vocal numbers, "Love, there is My Heart" and "Hecause," which will be gendered by another cell. Here friend of the bride, Miss Evication.

TENDER DINNER-DANCE

TENDER DINNER-DANCE

Among the many delightful informal affairs planned by members of the entertainment committee of the Rex club, of which Mr. Arthur Halle is chairman, that likely to afford most pleasure to the members and their guests is the cabarot dinner-dance, which will be enjoyed on Wednesday evening.

The tables will be arranged in the handsome baliroom and while the guests are enjoying the delicious menu, which will be served promptly at 7:15 o'clock, dance numbers and other features will be presented by talented young artists specially secured for the evening. Later informal dancing will be enjoyed until a late bour, by the 150 guests, who will have the pleasure of being present.

Specially invited to serve as members of the reception committee for the evening are: Mr. and Mrs. Milton Binswanger, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Levy and Mg, and Mrs. Arthur Seessel.

Berry, of Blue Mountain college, Mississippi.

The ceremony will be impressively solemnized at 7:30 o'clock, the Rev. C. A. Waterfield officiating. For the ceremony the bride will wear a handsome tailored suit of navy blue tricotine, with a becoming blue spring hat and a corpage bouquet of Bride roses and valley lines. She will be given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Reed Shaw, who will be gowned in navy blue taffeta with touches of hurst orange and a black picture hat, with which she will wear a corpage bouquet of yellow roses and valley lines.

The maid of honor, Miss Lucile Hubbard, and the bridesmand, Miss Helen Bunks, are former schoolmates of the bride. Miss Hubbard will be gowned in dark blue taffeta with rose-scolored frimmings, and Miss Banks will wear havy blue Georgette crope. Both will wear black picture hats and will havy corsage bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Wicke's brother, Mr. Herman Wicke, of Pensacola, will serve as his best man and Mr. Isham Harris, of Pensacola, as groomsman, while Messes Laynn Nichols and Kobert Branson will act as ushers.
